HAVE YOUR SAY ABOUT COUNCIL'S NEW ACTIVE TRANSPORT PLAN

Sunshine Coast Council wishes to advise that the community engagement to guide the development of its new Active Transport Plan has commenced today.

We encourage our community to 'Have your say' and share their thoughts and provide feedback which will guide the priorities for improving active transport on the Sunshine Coast.

The survey will be open for four weeks until 5pm on Monday, 17 June 2024.

The new Active Transport Plan will help Council to achieve its goal of delivering a connected, safe, healthy and sustainable transport system by 2041. A transport system that works for the whole Sunshine Coast community, enhancing quality of life, contributing to economic viability, and adding to the region's sustainability.

Achieving this vision may include:

- improving the walking and riding network of paths
- building new infrastructure where connections are missing, or support more comfortable travel
- prioritising user safety
- encouraging behaviour change.

It would be appreciated if you could share this link and encourage your communities to have a say about Council's new Active Transport Plan.

The project team would like to invite SCATAC members to participate in a stakeholder interview, either in a small group or individually. This will help the team to gather some deeper insights which SCATAC can provide. If you are interested in participating in a stakeholder interview, please reply to this email and the Project Co-ordinator will be in touch.

For more information about the project, please visit the Have Your say

https://haveyoursay.sunshinecoast.qld.gov.au/sunshine-coast-new-active-transport-plan

If you have any questions or would like further information about the process for updating the Active Transport Plan, please contact Yolanda Burt, Project Coordinator, Transport Strategy and Policy, via phone on 5441 8209 or email: yolanda.burt@sunshinecoast.qld.gov.au

Kind regards

Scott

QCCC WEEKLY ACTIVITY

There's quite a bit happening on the changeover day this week, because in the early part of the week we have one Brisbane school bringing two different Grade 4 cohorts for a one-night camp each. Our modified flying fox for smaller kids will be getting a workout. They're joined on Monday by a Grade 8 cohort from the Sunshine Coast who will be staying with us all week. On Wednesday two more schools arrive, both for Grade 5 Camps, one from Brisbane and the other from the Fraser Coast area.

RECONCILIATION WEEK

It was wonderful to host Sunshine Coast Council's National Reconciliation Week 2024 Launch at Triballink. QCCC's Director grew up in Africa and was in Primary School when the walls of racial segregation came down in his country of birth, virtually overnight. Little thought went in to how these children might negotiate this social experiment, weeks after the end of a bitter civil war. This experience is one of the major motivations of QCCC's partnership with Triballink - to ensure young Australians can gain a healthy respect for all cultures, and where the importance of true national reconciliation can be openly discussed and advocated.

This partnership is more than ten years old, from humble beginnings as a paperbark Gunya to today's Triballink Cultural Activities Centre. Central to this growth has been the mateship between QCCC and Triballink, and adherence to Aboriginal organising principles such as yarning, relationship and building the bridge as we walk on it. This initiative was prompted by the legacy of the Blackall Range and the ancient Bunya Festival, a time of feasting, yarning, sharing of skills and conflict resolution. It is a privilege for QCCC to be able to pay homage to this legacy in a modern way, hosting the next generation of Queenslanders, inviting them into a space of reconciliation, healing, and respect.

We are thrilled to announce that our beloved regional touring project, Festival of Small Halls, is coming to 20 halls across Queensland as part of the Winter Tour 2024: Coastal Queensland. From the tropical rainforest of the Daintree, all the way to the Scenic Rim, we'll be bringing live music to regional and remote communities across the state.

Taking the stage will be award-winning Canadian duo Quote The Raven and Australian folk singer Hailey Calvert. They are all so excited to come and experience the joy and warmth that makes these communities so special.

Here's where we'll be headed to the Sunshine Coast:
Sunday 21st July – Eudlo

Festival of Small Halls celebrates Australian towns in all their diverse glory, supported by Woodfordian dedication to community, excellence in music and bringing people together. The team works with individual communities across the tour, to create a unique evening at each show and light up cherished local halls across the country.

We love that these tours are so important to everyone involved, bringing much joy to each community, audience member, patron, volunteer and artist involved. We hope you'll help us spread the word with those in your local circles.

LOCAL

PACIFIC BAZA

Aviceda subcritata

The Pacific Baza is a medium-sized, colourful plumaged, long-tailed hawk with a prominent crest. However, I still use its alternate name Crested Hawk. Adults have a slim black crest on a plain grey head with large yellow eyes. The neck and breast are grey and the underparts are white with bold dark-brown banding. The tail is blue grey with dark grey barring including a broad terminal band while the thighs and vent are pale rufous. Under the wings there is a pale rufous lining and the wing tips are deeply fingered and deeply barred. Their legs are short with weak toes. They have an erect posture when perching with their wings and tail extending well below the branch due to their short legs.

With a length of 43-46 cm the female is slightly larger and heavier, and browner on the crown than the male (length 35-40 cm). The juveniles differ by having a browner crown and upper parts and their breast is a light cinnamon with darker bars.

Pacific Bazas are primarily birds of forest edges and occasionally in suburban gardens in leafy suburbs. They hunt around leafy trees plunging into the foliage after prey, snatching at stick insects, mantids, tree frogs, small reptiles and nestling birds.

For the last 20 years I have been photographing this bird in our area, mainly between May and July and my local 'watch dogs' are the Noisy Miners who go berserk when one visits our place.

Not a local species but a species known to all of us just by the feathers alone.

Thank you for this contribution

Grevillea lanigera 'Mt. Tamboritha'

A wonderful ground cover plant, it has dense foliage with close set small midgreen leaves, giving a very attractive appearance even when not in flower.

It has small pink spider type flowers in winter to spring. It is drought and frost tolerant, and is best in cooler areas, and dislikes humid conditions.

Attracts bees, nectar eating birds, butterflies, other insects.

Grows well across the Range and surrounds but soil must be slightly sandy and well drained.

Sometimes marketed as 'Woolly Bear'.

Has been flowering since autumn and through all the recent rainy periods in a Mapleton garden.

INFORMATION REQUESTED

Why have the beautiful yellow daisies on the Dulong Range been called a weed?

This question has been asked often. Such a bright display attracting bus and car loads of people to stop and take pictures.

However, this exotic species is very successful especially along roadsides, railway lines, creekbanks, disturbed sites, waste areas, embankments, hillsides and neglected suburban lots in tropical, sub-tropical and warmer temperate regions that it 'takes over'. The daisy is so prolific that it creates a monoculture hence the local native species can not compete.

As you will notice each year this species is spreading throughout the Range reducing the habitats of our natives.

Michelangelo Merisi da Caravaggio (1571–1610)
Bacchus, ca. 1596/97

Oil on canvas, 95 x 85 cm (37⅜ x 33½ in.)
Florence, Galleria degli Uffizi

Bacchus, the Roman god of wine and ecstasy, was painted by Caravaggio in several versions. Caravaggio is thought to have executed this painting in 1596/97 while visiting his patron, the Cardinal del Monte. Despite a turbulent lifestyle well beyond the bounds of decorum — for example, he killed a man in a quarrel — Caravaggio bequeathed an oeuvre which has had a seminal impact on European painting.

WHO WAS CARAVAGGIO?

Caravaggio (born September 29, 1571, Milan or Caravaggio [Italy]—died July 18/19, 1610, Porto Ercole, Tuscany) was a leading Italian painter of the late 16th and early 17th centuries who became famous for the intense and unsettling realism of his large-scale religious works.

While most other Italian artists of his time slavishly followed the elegant balletic conventions of late Mannerist painting, Caravaggio painted the stories of the Bible as visceral and often bloody dramas. He staged the events of the distant sacred past as if they were taking place in the present day, often working from live models whom he depicted in starkly modern dress.

An early photograph, probably late 1950's or very early 1960's.

Note - gravel range road prior to sealing (opened 1963).

Taken from front yard of 'The College', looking south down Post Office Road up to Flaxton Drive.

Right down the road is — Cullen's home, Post Office, Bowls Club, Sherwell's home, store.

Across the road is Hotel, then two buildings, the School and, opposite, The Methodist Church.

To the right, overlooking 'The Swamp' now 'Lilyponds Park' to the Hardwood timber mill, hall, tennis courts, and Masonic Lodge .

Note the bakery (now chemist) bake house and tennis court at the rear of building.

This title 'Showtime' is by the Australian author Judy Nunn who has worked as an actor, and written scripts for television and radio.

The theme of the book is based on the early development of theatre in both Melbourne and Sydney. Two families of different backgrounds arrive in Melbourne from the cotton mills in the UK and from orphanages in London in the 1880s.

The story follows their lives for three generations through feuds, reconciliations, and development of theatre performances in both cities from their arrival until the 1920s.

Set against a background of real life artists, promoters and theatre buildings, an interesting insight into the development of Australian theatre and is an enjoyable book for those interested in this genre as well as new readers.

Procedures for Pop Up Community News management

The Pop Up Community News was launched in 2016. The News has gone through many changes with no one organisation controlling the News—it is truly a community news: for the community by the community. Auspiced by the Mapleton Library and Community Centre since 2016 which provides insurance, financial support and much more.

The News offers opportunity to promote events and provide information to all community groups right across the Range and the surrounding hinterland

Thank you everyone.

The Pop Up Community News is edited, published and distributed by volunteers.
There will be no discussion or correspondence on matters pertaining to the Pop Up Community News.
