MAPLETON CRAFT GROUP AND WOODIES HAVE BEEN BUSY AGAIN

For the umpteenth year, the Mapleton Craft Group have beavered away making dolls and dolls clothes in collaboration with the Blackall Range Woodcrafters Guild to donate a varied range of handmade treasures to the Salvation Army for its annual Children's Christmas Toy Appeal.

In an age when most toys small children receive are mass produced and plastic, these hearken back to former times when a grandparent or parent would handcraft one special toy with time, care and loving thoughts. Such toys may be fewer in number but are given with true Christmas spirit.

Ursula and Shameen from the Mapleton Craft Group handing craft items to BRWG Toy Team leader Russ for inclusion in the donation of toys to the Salvos.

A small sample of some of the toys made by the Woodies Toy Team and Mapleton Craft Group in 2024

Russ, Rick and Toy Team members handing over 2024's toys to Salvos Captain Des. The rocking horse held by former Woodies President and Mapleton resident Julie, was made by long term Woodies member Ray, who generously donated it to the Salvos.

RING PULLS

Numerous rings pulls are being left on the verandah of the Mapleton Library Community Centre.

Keep them coming—every ring pull is that much closer to a wheel chair for a child

Mapleton Bowls Club is another site where you can leave your collection.

During the recent Annual Christmas Dinner held at the Mapleton Bowls Club, Paul Morris and Nita Lester handed over 4kg of ring pulls to the Blackall Range Lions Club representative Phillip Lester.

WILD HEART WALK

Featuring outstanding artworks by 21 local school-aged children Sunshine Coast Libraries, First 5 Forever and the Maroochy Regional Bushland Botanic Garden have joined forces to introduce families and their little ones to the local environment and its inhabitants and encourage early and visual literacy through art.

School-aged children were encouraged to spend time 'in the field' by visiting an environment that sparks their curiosity or fills them with wonder. Then capture the native plants, animals or fungi in an art piece as part of Sunshine Coast Council's Wild HeART Student Art Prize.

The finalists' artworks and their student statements are now installed as an outdoor exhibition trail at the Maroochy Regional Bushland Botanic Garden. To find the Art Walk simply head to the Lagoon Walk and follow the art!

The exhibition will be on display for the entire summer holidays, from December 2024 to January 2025.

Starting this weekend 51 Palm Creek Road, Tanawha. Open daily from 7am to 6pm.

COME AND VISIT A MAGICAL WORLD OF CHILDREN'S ENVIRONMENTAL LITERATURE AT RAINFOREST READS THIS HOLIDAYS.

Three local authors are sharing their books with daily storytime sessions, art and craft activities and inspiring displays. They want children and caregivers alike to fall in love with a shy and beautiful moth, a bum-breathing turtle looking for a friend, and the little wallum sedgefrog whose habitat is sprouting back to life after bushfire. Hear the authors read their stories everyday: 9.30am; 12.30pm, and 2.30pm. Featured books:

Luca and the Moth, by Barbara Kelly. Illustrated by Paola Castro. Young readers will delight in this story of Luca, a child who meets a special and endangered moth in the rainforest, and discovers that she needs one type of vine to survive.

Alight, by Dr Sam Lloyd. Illustrated by Samantha Metcalfe. This story of fire and nature takes young readers on a wander through the wallum after a healthy bushfire. Native flowers emerge and seeds are thrown, as burrows are prepared for new life.

Rocky and the River in Peril, by Sunshine Coast Council's pest education team. Illustrated by Michelle Lees. Children under 10 will enjoy meeting Rocky, the punk, bum-breathing Mary River turtle. He's on the search for another turtle just like him but must overcome threatening feral animals and weeds overtaking his habitat. Will he survive?

Meet these inspiring characters, have fun making book-inspired craft and relax in the rainforest reading corner this holidays. Rainforest Reads is FREE. All children and families are welcome. Cairncross Theatrette, Level 1 Rainforest Discovery Centre. Accessible by stairs or lift.

LOCAL

ROCK DOVE

Columba livia

Rock Doves are also called Rock Pigeon, Feral Pigeon, Domestic or Homing Pigeon. They are descended from the wild rock pigeon of the northern hemisphere and were probably introduced into Australia early in European settlement. They are commonly kept for racing and have been used for meat. They are now widespread and found living wild in nearly every town in Australia. These feral birds retain the cliff-dwelling and ledge-nesting habits of their wild ancestors. They feed mostly on food scraps in streets and parks and on food which has been put out for poultry and other domestic animals.

This feral pigeon is moderately sized, being 33-36 cm long and with a soft, rather musical cooing call. Their plumage is immensely variable in colour from pinkish through browns to near black but typically they are largely blue-grey with a glossy sheen on the neck, often chequered darker on their wings. The sexes are similar with breeding occurring in all months, but mostly in summer.

Thank you Eric Anderson

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN PIGEONS AND DOVES?

Both dove and pigeon refer to over 300 species of birds from the Columbidae family. There's no difference between a pigeon and a dove in scientific nomenclature, but colloquial English tends to categorise them by size. Something called a dove is generally smaller than something called a pigeon, but that's not always the case. A common pigeon, for example, is called both a rock dove and a rock pigeon.

The word dove is a word that came into English from the more Nordic languages, whereas pigeon came into English from French.

Now, what about a turtle-dove?

I will leave that one for you to investigate.

Thank you Feather Cap.

Art with a Christmas Theme

Winter Landscape

Artist: Caspar David Friedrich

Caspar David Friedrich is remembered as one of the most famous landscape artists in history. He created such masterpieces as Wanderer above the Sea Fog, as well as several other landscape paintings that have since become iconic in their own right.

One of Friedrich's most famous paintings is one that he likely finished around 1811 and titled Winter Landscape. The painting is especially dark and depicts the land blanketed with a heavy covering of snow.

The dark grey clouds swirling overhead are a stark contrast from the brilliant white snow that sits beneath. Friedrich gives the viewer a sense of the frigid, barren landscape in this work that perfectly captures the bleakness of winter for most areas throughout the world.

Viggo Johansen: Merry Christmas (1891)

Where is it: Hirschsprung Collection, Copenhagen, Denmark

Viggo Johansen was a Danish artist known for his interior paintings with soft light effects and family life scenes. This gathering of a family singing around a Christmas tree represents it perfectly.

An interesting motif in this painting is the Christmas tree itself. It shows a typical and fashionable way of decorating it with lit candles at the end of the 19th century. That custom is a predecessor of Christmas lights that are globally popular today.
