WHAT IS ON THIS WEEKEND?

-  19 September: Mapleton Men's Shed Mural Launch, 4:30pm
-  19 September: Submissions to New Planning Scheme due by midnight.

DETAILS INSIDE THIS EDITION

Queensland Child Protection Week shares the important message that is:

Protecting children is

EVERYBODY'S

BUSINESS

Each year, artists design a special craft project to celebrate this message. This year, the project is inspired by the Lotus Flower.

The Lotus Flower is often thought to be a symbol of life's ebbs and flows. The flower's ability to rise from murky waters into something beautiful makes it a powerful symbol of hope and perseverance. This incredible process is a reminder that as a community we must together support the safety and protection of children to ensure they reach their full potential.

We thank the Mapleton community for helping to keep our students safe and protected.

MAPLETON STATE SCHOOL YEAR THREE

Beautiful Lotus Flower artwork on display at the Mapleton Library Community Centre

Fiona Longhurst, Year 3 teacher with Ruby, the Library's work experience student from Nambour State College, enjoyed displaying these colourful symbols of hope and perseverance. Do drop by and enjoy.

Ruby is spending the full week at the Library Community Centre.

Mapleton Men's Shed
ENGAGEMENT – FRIENDSHIP – SUPPORT

The Mapleton Men's Shed is proud to welcome our new mural to the Mapleton Art Trail. There will be an opportunity to view the mural in detail, look for the hidden creatures and meet the artist at 4:30 this Friday 19th. This will be a good time to discuss the history of the Shed and the mural, and we will be opening our little museum as well as the shed workshops. We are very grateful for a grant from the Sunshine Coast Council and for their support for this addition to our heritage listed buildings. Looking forward to seeing some locals call in on their afternoon strolls.

MAPLETON LILYPONDS PARK

Located in the heart of Mapleton grass and natural shade, there is a playground, shelters with picnic facilities, skate park, access and views of the lake and large open grassed areas. It also has a fenced dog off leash park.

AUSSIE BIRD COUNT

WHY COUNTING MATTERS?

Birds are everywhere. In our backyards, balconies, local parks and schoolyards, and they have amazing stories to tell about the health of our environment. Right now, one in six Australian birds faces the threat of extinction, making it more important than ever to pay attention.

The Aussie Bird Count is a fun, easy way for all of us to take a national snapshot of the birds we see and start noticing the nature around us. With just 20 minutes, you can help build a picture of how our feathered friends are faring and contribute to something that really counts.

Topic : The Themes of Queensland's Early Colonisation, with Tony Millroy.

Queensland History splits neatly in two : before and after separation from New South Wales in 1859. The racist and exceptionalist attitudes and ideologies that arrived in Moreton Bay were centuries in the making and played out in a verdant forbidding land isolated by the tyrannies of time and distance from the rest of the world. These themes mutated and developed over the century as the industrial revolution shrunk the globe and as science and empirical evidence replaced God as the reason for everything.

The arriving themes will be demonstrated against a backdrop of race relations changed from fear to benign paternalism by the time of the 1897 Aboriginal Protection and Restriction of Opium Act (Qld). This talk will cover the pre-separation decades that saw the dramatic changes that would shape Queensland well into the 20th century.

All welcome.

A CALL TO CARE

Mapleton writers Marg Gibbs and Noosa illustrator, Sandra Severgnini have teamed up to create AWASH, a beautiful picture story that blends the thrill of a treasure hunt with an environmental message.

Cassie is searching for the perfect shell to make a necklace. Instead, along the shore, she sees rubbish, sparking the question: can one girl make a difference?

Support our local author and buy a copy from the Mapleton Post Office or contact Marg for teachers notes.

QCCC MAPLETON WEEKLY UPDATE

This weekend we welcome two Church Family Camps, bringing the site to full capacity. These camps are always a special time—multi-generational, joy-filled, and deeply relational. Expect the usual mix of games on the oval, meals shared across generations, laughter around the bonfire, and gentle worship gatherings in Kirkwood Hall. Family camps also tend to explore Mapleton's local shops, cafés, and walking tracks during free time, contributing to the life of our village.

Next week brings a change of pace as we enter the Spring school holidays, shifting from term-time routines to camps where Mapleton shines in the warmer Spring weather. We'll be hosting a Youth Camp onsite for four nights, running across the entire week. On Tuesday, they'll be joined by a Cultural Awareness Camp for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children from the Logan area.

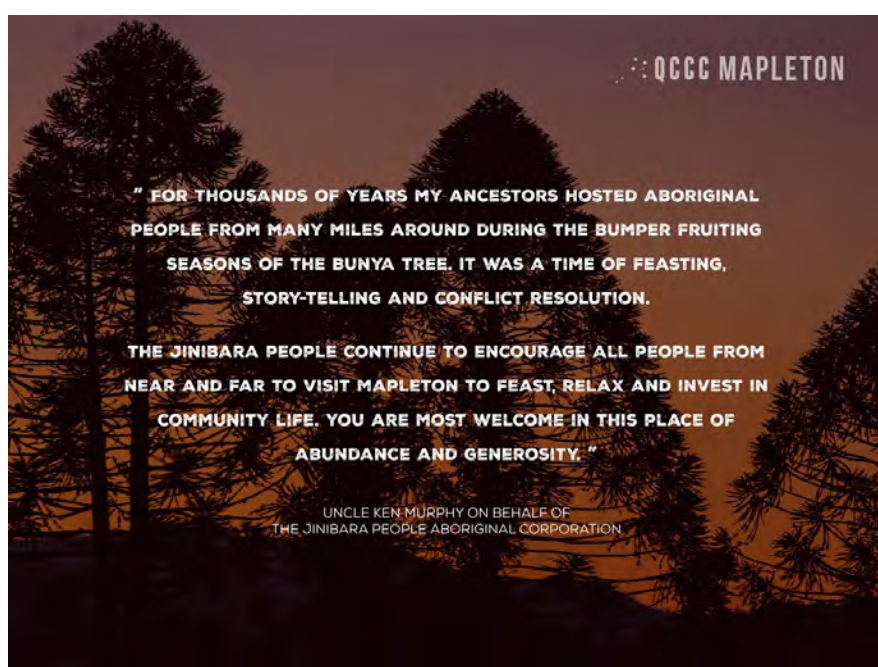

Spotlight: The Triballink Centre

We're privileged to host this cultural awareness camp on the same site as the Triballink Centre, a purpose-built facility dedicated to reconciliation, education, and cultural celebration. Led and staffed entirely by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, Triballink is a national leader in immersive Indigenous cultural experiences, working with schools, corporate teams, church groups, and community organisations. Through dance, storytelling, bush tucker, and connection to Country, Triballink provides a safe and powerful space for learning, reflection, and healing.

As QCCC continues to champion cultural understanding in camping and education, we are proud of our partnership with Triballink and the profound impact it has—on our guests, on us, and on the journey toward reconciliation in our nation.

QUEENSLAND SENIORS MONTH

Queensland Seniors Month provides opportunities to promote positive community attitudes towards older people and ageing, facilitate community participation, and enhance community connections, aligning with the Queensland Government's vision of building age-friendly communities in Queensland.

In 2025, Queensland Seniors Month will be celebrated from Wednesday 1 October to Friday 31 October.

Queensland Seniors Month includes United Nations International Day of Older Persons (1 October) and National Grandparents Day (26 October), days that recognise the important contribution of older people in their families and communities.

The Queensland Government funds the Council on the Ageing Queensland to coordinate Seniors Month on its behalf.

Mooloolah River National Park, Old Caloundra Road, Glenview - proposed upgrades to an existing telecommunications facility, Exemption Certificate – Downer. EXE is a new code for me. Assume the application relates to the existing tower that exists on a hill top in the Park.

Note to this week's report:

Firstly, an explanation: Impact Assessable vs Code Assessable - Code assessable development is typically straightforward and complies with local planning codes, not requiring public notification. In contrast, impact assessable development involves a more detailed review process, including public notification and community input, due to its potential impacts on the surrounding area. Typically, under code assessment, if the application is correctly made, is appropriate to the zone it is situated in, and addresses positively the defined outcomes of the code, and does not contravene any specially defined overlay, the application will succeed.

This specific report highlights the inconsistencies present in terms of applying assessment levels, Code or Impact, to applications. Of particular note, MCU25/0258 relates to an application for dual living on a 700m2 lot. The application is regarded as impact assessable. Creates the potential for 2 families on 700m2.

MCU25/0262 is a large (675m2) sales outlet, in commercial Nambour, gabled with landscaped car parking. Again, this application is impact assessable.

However, less than 500M from MCU25/0262 is MCU25/0256, which will create a 6 level apartment complex with 152 apartments, which are designated "rooming". They contain no kitchen per say, and the living area, (bedroom, lounge, laundry in a cupboard etc), of each is 27.55m2 excluding balconies. Such a development has the potential to change the character of Nambour on various levels. Yet the development is deemed to be code assessable.

The last call for submissions to the new planning scheme is midnight 19th September 2025.

Fauna and flora of the region

Grow Australian Plants

LOCAL

Hakea florulenta

Three-nerved willow hakea

Hakea florulenta is a low growing shrub 1-2m tall. It has clusters of creamy white, pleasantly perfumed flowers in spring, followed by a woody fruit to 25mm. In their natural environment, they often occur under gum trees.

This Wallum Hakea is hardy and adaptable and can grow in full sun or part shade. It prefers moist/well drained soils and attracts bees and birds.

Hakea florulenta is endemic to south east Queensland and northern New South Wales.

If you have an interest in maintaining the biodiversity of the plants in our region, buy one of these unassuming shrubs for your garden.

In flower across the region—just look at the display in the images below.

RESTLESS FLYCATCHER

Myiagra inquieta

The Restless Flycatcher's habitat includes open forests and woodlands, often near water. An old name for them is 'Scissor Grinder' because their call sounds like metal blades being sharpened on a grinding wheel or whetstone.

It can be found in northern and eastern mainland Australia as well as in south-western Australia, but it is rare in the arid centre. It is also found in Papua New Guinea. There are two subspecies. Across the Blackall Range the southern subspecies occurs. It is found in south-western Australia and from eastern South Australia to Julia Creek and Mount Isa. The south-eastern population moves north during winter.

They are a smallish smart looking bird, 19-21 cm long, similar in size to a Willie Wagtail. Their upperparts are glossy black or blue-black from forehead to rump, with a long broad dull-black tail and their entire underparts are white, often with a buff wash on the breast, especially in the female. They have a short crest on the crown. Their eyes are dark brown, bill blue-black and legs black.

Females are similar to males but less glossy and the upper breast is washed rich buff which may be reduced with wear. The immatures resemble adults, but their upper parts are browner.

A familiar call is a loud, clear whistling 'too-whee too-whee too-whee'. It also has a distinctive churring or grinding call; so metallic is this sound that it has earned for this bird the nickname 'Scissor-grinder'.

Its food consists principally of insects including spiders, termites, various beetles, ants, wasps, flies, moths and butterflies. It also eats centipedes, worms and caterpillars. It feeds in a characteristic way, hawking or hovering above its prey, calling continually, then dropping down to seize them. They rarely venture onto the ground.

Breeding occurs in spring and summer following the building of a small cup-shaped nest of bark and grass bound with spider web, camouflaged with pieces of lichen and bark, and placed in an exposed position on a tree branch, often near or over water. The nests are often parasitised by Pallid and Brush Cuckoos.

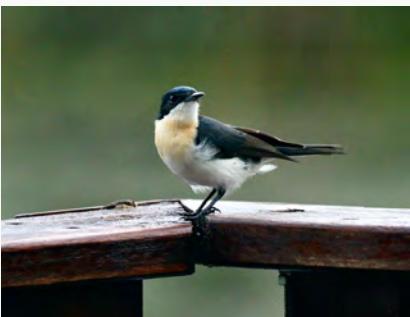

Thank you Eric Anderson

Limnobium laevigatum

Declaration

Council Pest Vegetation (BCC Natural Asset Local Law)

Frogbit is a floating freshwater plant from Central and South America. It has been kept and traded for use in fish ponds, aquariums and water features. It can rapidly invade and smother waterways and is a serious biosecurity threat.

Plants can form into large mats of runners and adult plants can develop very quickly.

Juvenile plants have a great capacity for distribution in that they are small and can be easily and quickly carried along by water currents.

A large mat of runners and leaves can develop very quickly, smothering waterways with a similar impact to that of salvinia.

HUMANITARIAN SPIRIT OF PAPUA NEW GUINEA

What an amazing evening. With the Mens Shed hosting and Blackall Range Lions organising it was a great community gathering and a very successful fundraiser. Despite the rain during Peter's talk – which seemed like a little PNG reality, the donations, raffles and auction of PNG artefacts was not dampened by the 75 people who attended. More the $13,500 was raised to help remote villages on the Ghost Mountain Trail get basic medical help and education. Here are some audience comments:

I had no idea these men at 20 odd years of age were so involved in governing PNG. IN the 1960's Col was in some of the remotest parts of the country. His anecdote of going to bring law and order to tribes who had barely seen white people were captivating. Stories of gruesome rituals, and in particular the suspected murder of Col's local Constable Okomba kept the audience enthralled. Col's love of PNG and the lasting impression it left on him was very obvious. We are lucky to have such people in our community.

John had such an amazing career and a huge responsibility over vast areas of PNG. He made us realise how little we actually knew, and how complex the situation was in PNG then (1960's and 1970's), and now. The many short stories of John's exploits especially to some of the more warlike villages and how their differences were resolved were absolutely fascinating. John obviously feels strongly for PNG and treasures the 16 years he spent there during which time he was married and started a family.

The first being the organisation of a documentary to provide a historical record of the Flying Dutchman tragedy. This requires great conviction and effort. My respect for Peter grew as he showed photos of the villagers along the Ghost Mountain Trail who he has treated in the past with basic medication he carried with him. Peter's concern for these villagers was very clear. It led to his determination to raise funds to provide a medical facility for the villagers where they currently have nothing. This is a truly humanitarian project.

A BIG THANK YOU TO ALL WHO HELPED MAKE THIS SUCH A SUCCESS

COMMUNITY CAR TO GET TO CONCERT

Join Our Team: Secretary Wanted at Kenilworth Arts Council

About Us

Hey there! At the Kenilworth Arts Council, we're all about bringing the CREATIVE ARTS to life in our community. We love boosting creativity, getting folks involved, and giving artists a stage to shine. Our mission? To make our community richer with awesome art projects and educational programs.

What We're Looking For

We're on the hunt for a super organized and enthusiastic person to step into the Secretary role. You'll be the backbone of our operations, handling all the admin stuff and keeping our projects on track.

What You'll Do

1. Meetings: Set up and schedule our meetings, get the agenda ready, and share all the meeting details with the team. We meet the 3rd Wednesday of each month at Kenilworth Arts Council building, which is behind the Library on Elizabeth Street. We can bribe you with cake and coffee, or if needed, something stronger!!
2. Records: Keep track of everything that happens in our meetings, take notes, and share them around via email.
3. Communication: Manage all the emails, letters, and calls we get, keeping things running smoothly. President and Treasurer can assist here, team effort!
4. Event Support: Help out with planning and pulling off our events, workshops, and other cool projects

What You Need

- Passion
- Smiles
- Love for the arts and community engagement.

How to Jump In

Think you're the one? Send us your resume and a cover letter telling us why you're interested and what you bring to the table. You can email it to kac@kenilwortharts.org.au or drop it in the mail to PO BOX 123, Kenilworth, 4574, QLD. Ring Sarah Sigley 0408399928 for any questions.

Come join the Kenilworth Arts Council and help us keep the arts alive in our community. We can't wait to meet you!

NB* no resume needed or resume optional only

SCHOOL HOLIDAY THEATRE PROGRAM

Professional contemporary theatre, crafted for the next generation of performers.

SCHOOL HOLIDAY THEATRE PROGRAMME

Professional contemporary theatre, crafted for the next generation of performers.

24 September, 9:00am to 3:00pm

Black Box Theatre, Nambour (80 Howard St.)

Cost: $90 per participant.

Special Promo: bring a friend and save 5% on each ticket.

D.I.V.E.'s School Holiday Program is where teens (13-17 years old) grow their confidence, find their unique voice, and create powerful performances under the guidance of industry professionals.

This dynamic workshop nurtures teenagers' personal growth and creativity, combining physical theatre, devising, and creative writing to build confidence, self-awareness, and collaboration skills.

Through engaging activities, participants will develop:

- Physical Awareness: Build confidence, coordination, and discipline while exploring self-expression through movement, gesture, and presence.
- Emotional Awareness: Gain tools to recognise and express feelings through the body, fostering empathy, resilience, and self-confidence.
- Devising Original Work: Learn to create original theatre scenes by combining creative writing with physical storytelling.
- Communication Skills: Strengthen collaboration, listening, and both verbal and non-verbal communication through group-devising activities.
- Creative Expression: Discover their own artistic voice by weaving together imagination, movement, and storytelling.

Montville Reflection Gallery

Space to rest and reflect 10 am to 3 pm most days of the year!

Montville Uniting Church, 152 Main Street, Montville

For the Season of Creation (1 September to 4 October) Stillness and Strength—

An Exhibition by Genevieve Clark

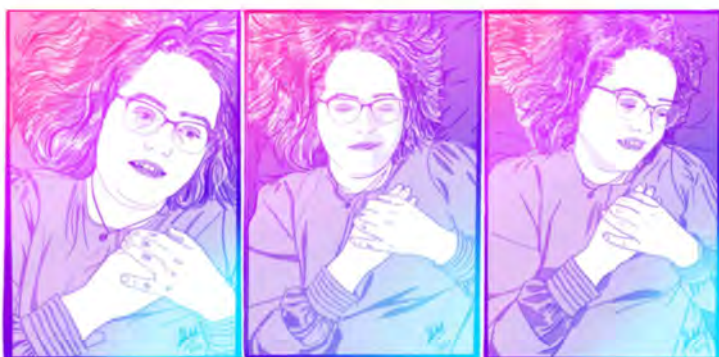

From Genevieve—As you step away from the business of life to view these images, you are invited to pause and reflect. The beauty of creation and the quiet moments of stillness point us to the presence and greatness of God. As you follow the images around the church (in a clockwise direction from the entrance), let the words of scripture guide you. See God as creator, marvel at God's power, hear of God's love and God's plans for you in Christ. Receive the strength and peace that God alone gives.

Genevieve Clark is a retired educational leader who has become a passionate iphone photographer. She lives in the beautiful Dundowran Beach on the outskirts of Hervey Bay. As she explores Australia, farm-sitting and house-sitting, she enjoys using her camera to capture the beauty of her surroundings. She hopes her visual language encourages others to experience and understand Bible verses in a tangible, emotional and contemplative way, while also showcasing the amazing country we live in.
