Kidney Health: Small Steps That Make a Big Difference

The first week of July is Kidney Health Week, a great reminder to look after two of the hardest-working organs in your body. Your kidneys filter waste, balance fluids, help regulate blood pressure, and support overall health—but kidney disease often develops without noticeable symptoms.

The good news? A few simple habits can help keep your kidneys healthy: Stay well hydrated by drinking water regularly.

Keep your blood pressure and blood sugar under control.

- Eat a healthy diet and stay active.
- Avoid regular use of anti-inflammatory pain medicines (such as ibuprofen or naproxen) unless advised by your doctor, as they can affect kidney function over time.

As your local pharmacy, we're always happy to review your medicines and discuss how these may affect your kidney health.

A couple of over-the-counter products that may support your kidney health include:

Hydralyte® – An oral rehydration solution that helps replace fluids and electrolytes during illness or dehydration.

Home blood pressure monitors – Regular blood pressure checks at home can help detect and manage one of the leading causes of kidney disease. If you have diabetes, high blood pressure, are over 60, or have a family history of kidney disease, speak with your GP about a simple kidney health check.

At Lindner Family Pharmacy our dedicated and professional team is committed to supporting the health and wellbeing of you and your family. We are proud to care for the Range communities and provide trusted, accessible healthcare services.

Blackall Range Land Use Planning Association AGM

6 August, 6pm

The Blackall Range Land Use Planning Association (BRLUPA) are holding the annual general meeting on 6 August at the Mapleton Library Community Centre, 6pm. All newcomers and interested people welcome.

BRLUPA is a longstanding community association that has input to key land use planning initiatives in the hinterland and Sunshine Coast Council region, including:

- Seeking to protect and enhance the physical environment, heritage and productive economic base of the Blackall Range by influencing land use and town planning regimes, policy, decisions and practice
- Ensuring local values and knowledge are considered for the local planning scheme and the SEQ regional plan
- Input, including submissions to Council and local MPs on controversial development proposals

MAPLETON BOWLS CLUB SPECIAL MORNING FOR THE CHILDREN

Recently, four classes from the Mapleton State School had fun on the green.

Seven members of the Club guided the children through several activities. Everyone enjoyed the morning, and both children and adults are looking forward to the next 'fun on the green' session.

Grant Drop-in Sessions

Our grant drop-in sessions give you the opportunity to speak one-on-one with a member of our Grants Team while the Minor Grant round is open.

If you have questions about eligibility, your project, or your grant application, simply drop in to one of our sessions!

No appointment is needed – assistance is provided on a first-come, first-served basis.

The Minor Grant round closes at midnight on 13 July 2026.

Resist... Rest... Rhythm... An Exhibition by Wendy Jarrott-Smith

On now until 31 August

Often in life, we just need to call 'time out' from life's busy-ness and demands. After many years of work, people sometimes take a 'Sabbatical'... an extended time away from paid work, to study, travel or pursue personal growth. It's interesting that this word has its root in Christian Scripture, where we are called to take a Sabbath... a 'day of rest'.

In my own life, I have come to understand that taking 'time out' often means 'RESISTING' the should-dos, have-tos, must-dos and demands of others... of intentionally setting aside time for REST... so that we can find again the unique RHYTHM of our life, and rediscover what we can bring as 'gifts' to our world. The paintings and photographs in this display all reference these themes.

My art is 'conceptual'... an art of 'words & pictures'. So, as you look at my paintings and photographs on display, please take the time to read the accompanying reflections, for they express the 'soul' of my work, and complement how I see the world through the lens of my camera, or at the tip of my paintbrush.

'Conceptual art' helps us to observe the 'rub' between the temporal and eternal worlds, through our human experiences. The Celtic Christians would describe this space between the temporal, material world and the eternal world, as a 'thin place', and it is in the 'thin places' in our lives, that we often see the hand of God.

I have found this to be true in my life. For that I am very thankful.

Weekly Activity Update

This weekend sees the arrival of a large Youth Camp that will remain onsite right through next week – a denominational State Camp drawing young people from right across Queensland, an event that has called Mapleton home for a long time now.

Expect the usual energy of a camp this size: boisterous games on the oval, some sessions of amplified music in Kirkwood Hall, and groups of young people making the most of the mountain, the village and everything QCCC has to offer. It is the kind of week where laughter carries a bit further than usual and the site feels genuinely alive.

Mapleton holds a special place in the memories of generations of young people who have come here for camp, and a State gathering like this one is exactly the sort of week that keeps adding to that history. We are grateful for the support of the community as we host it.

Grow Australian Plants

LOCAL

Pandorea pandorana

Wonga wonga vine

A variable native fast growing creeper with variable green foliage and masses of pendulous bell flowers, which are variable in colour, from pure white, cream with purple maroon veining through to yellows in winter to summer

Tolerates light frosts; sun to part shade; adaptable to most well drained soils; acid, neutral pH; drought-resistant.

Can be cut back hard to rejuvenate.

Attracts bees, butterflies, other insects.

LOCAL

RUFIOUS SHRIKE-THRUSH

Colluricincla megarhyncha

The Rufous Shrike-thrush, also called Little Shrike-thrush, can be found along coastal northern and eastern Australia from the Kimberleys south to about Hastings River in north-eastern NSW. It also occurs in New Guinea. It is likely to be encountered in moist lowland forests including rainforest, vine thickets, coastal woodland, paperbark swamps and mangroves. Locally it has been seen at the Mapleton Lilyponds, Kureelipa Falls Track, Mapleton Falls NP and Montville.

It is a small, 17-19 cm long, short-tailed robust-billed shrike-thrush with a plain olive-brown back. The eye is dark brown, the face paler than the upper parts and the chin and throat are white with darker streaks. The underparts are rufous to cinnamon-brown.

The sexes are alike. The juveniles are like the adults, but their secondaries and coverts are more broadly edged rufous.

They are usually quiet and unobtrusive and occur alone or in pairs. When feeding they forage for insects and their larvae from the ground to upper canopy. They are quite a voracious hunter, tearing open bark and sometimes the nests of other birds in their search for prey. They have a varied diet consisting of insects, spiders, small mammals, frogs and lizards, and birds eggs and young. Fruits and seeds may be eaten on occasion.

Their voice is a variety of melodious piping whistles and harsh, chattering notes.

Breeding is Sept-Jan in a well-hidden deep cup-shaped nest of leaves, bark and twigs located within 10m off the ground.

Thank you Eric Anderson.

WALKING

Celebrating
7 years of walking!

Congratulations to Mapleton Movers
walking group

Proudly supported by Australian Government

Please see above my Heart Foundation Walking Group Certificate for 7 Years of walking for the Mapleton Movers.

The HFW also sent an email a few weeks ago to say thanks for the incredible work I do, and to offer a Walk Organiser Support Fund to help me grow, promote, and manage my Heart Foundation Walking group.

The eligible walk organisers could apply for one support item that would make a real difference to their role and my local group. I'm happy to report I was successful with ten of my most regular walkers who now will be receiving Red Unisex TShirts. Congratulations to all my walkers. For information please email Donna Klease at bellville2@bigpond.com
